Project Overview

Futures Without Violence (FUTURES) provides specialized training and technical assistance to Office on Violence Against Women (OVW) grantees and their partners building collaborations to effectively and appropriately assist and identify domestic violence and sexual assault survivors who are also survivors of trafficking.

Training Institute and Webinars

The project offers a 2-day interactive training institute for 2-4 person multidisciplinary teams and may include OVW grantees, attorneys, legal advocates, faith based providers, law enforcement, or anti-violence advocates. Led by national experts on human trafficking, the goals of the institute are to assist participants develop or enhance anti-trafficking collaborations; identify victim-centered strategies to assist survivors, and develop action plans to implement a collaborative response to address trafficking in their community. We organize several national webinars throughout the year on topics related to collaboration and trafficking. The webinars are open to the public and recorded.

Technical Assistance

FUTURES provides technical assistance to OVW grantees and their partners seeking to work collaboratively and identify best practices in preventing trafficking. Site visits and tailored trainings on trafficking may also be available to OVW grantees and their partners as resources permit. We also have an extensive toolkit of resources that we can share, including sample protocols and case management procedures.
