

Futures Without Violence Campus Leadership Program NOW ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS!

WHAT: Ten graduate-level students in health-related fields of study from across the country will be chosen as Futures Without Violence (FUTURES) Campus Leaders to improve their college's awareness and response to violence against women. Campus Leaders will help to bring FUTURES' programming and resources to their college communities, while participating in coordinated efforts with FUTURES' staff and other Campus Leaders. Campus Leaders will benefit from the guidance of FUTURES staff and collaboration with other campus leaders from across the country, in addition to access to FUTURES' resources and materials, regular knowledge-sharing amongst peers and participation in a robust learning community of campus activists.

WHO SHOULD APPLY: Self-driven graduate students with an interest in affecting sustainable change on their campuses to raise awareness of and prevent sexual violence. Campus leaders will be encouraged to partner with like-minded student groups, campus agencies such as student health centers and staff, and are encouraged to demonstrate faculty or administrative support. This program is open to medical, nursing, public health, social work, psychology, health care administration or other health care-related graduate students (includes law, media, policy, or business students with a health care focus).

REQUIREMENTS:

- Five hours of work per week; hours may be increased to support class credit/internship requirements.
- Applicants will be required to be available for a phone check-in on a quarterly basis. Video conferences with other campus leaders may also be a regular occurrence.
- Applicants must be available for a two-day orientation in San Francisco August 8-9, 2019, and are invited to a two-day meeting at the end of April 2020. Travel expenses will be covered.
- A letter of support from a faculty member or campus administrator will be requested from applicants in the final round of consideration. It is advised that you secure this letter in advance, in the event it becomes necessary to submit.

DEADLINE: June 15, 2019

Campus leaders will:

- Develop and implement an organizing plan around key FUTURES programs for your college/university to address dating and domestic violence, reproductive coercion, and sexual violence.
- Participate in building FUTURES' on-the-ground exposure while working towards concrete goals such as:
 - Ensuring resources are known and available at Student Health Centers and Women's Centers
 - Advocating for policy and curriculum change with your college or university's administration
 - Writing blog posts and web/social media content to raise awareness of campus sexual violence
- Receive a $500 stipend. Leaders are expected to garner institutional support for any additional organizing funds that are necessary.
- Travel to San Francisco in August 2019 and Chicago, IL in April 2020 to participate in convenings with other Campus Leaders. (August 8-9, 2019 orientation and April 2020 Spring Meeting, in conjunction with the National Conference on Health and DV – WWW.NCHDV.ORG). Travel, hotel and per diem will be provided by FUTURES.

HOW TO APPLY: Apply here: <http://bit.ly/futuresfellows> describing your interest in the program, the need on your campus, and previous organizing experience. Please feel free to email LSohn@FuturesWithoutViolence.org with any questions.

ABOUT US: Creating futures without violence has been our vision for over thirty years. From domestic and dating violence, to child abuse and sexual assault, Futures Without Violence works to end some of the most pressing global issues of our time.

We advance the health, stability, education, and security of women and girls, men and boys worldwide. In 1994, Futures Without Violence was instrumental in developing the landmark Violence Against Women Act passed by the US Congress. Striving to reach new audiences and transform social norms, we train professionals such as doctors, nurses, athletic coaches, and judges on improving responses to violence and abuse. As well, we work with advocates, policy makers and others to build sustainable community leadership and educate people everywhere about the importance of respect and healthy relationships – the relationships that all individuals, families, and communities need and deserve.
