Resources on COVID-19 Response for Domestic & Sexual Violence Programs

Below are a few tips for virtual co-working. The next pages include resources on: advocacy and technology, staff wellness, remote management, leadership/infrastructure, and webinar opportunities.

Tips for Virtual Co-Working

- Communication is key. Think of all the different methods available to you and your coworkers and determine what works best for individuals.
- Don’t expect everyone to follow the same schedule. Provide flexibility to individuals for how they can get their work accomplished. Also, be practical about what can be achieved in a day.
- Reach out daily. Set a time for an optional, 10 minute daily team check-in/ huddle.
- Think about what combination of email, phone, and/or video conferencing is most effective for your team. Consider Skype, GoToMeeting, Google Hangouts, and Zoom.
- When using video conferencing, consider choosing a rotating facilitator for each meeting.
- Check in with coworkers individually to see how they are doing and what support is helpful.
- Become aware of the resources that are available in employee locales and also, what services are curtailed right now for helping survivors. Circulate that information to all staff.
  - Are shelters open?
  - How can individuals access advocates?
  - Are courts accessible physically or virtually for protection orders and other assistance?
- Staff may experience a wide range of trauma and violence at home themselves. Practice compassion and service to each other, the same way we do for others in our communities.
